What we know about our past, what we remember ourselves, what we were taught at school, who our parents and teachers told us about. Therefore, today we will highlight our curatorial hour to Tashenov Zhumabek Akhmetovich. This is a great man, a Soviet state and party figure, a member of the Central Committee of the CP of Kazakhstan, Chairman of the Council of Ministers of the Kazakh SSR, candidate of economic Sciences and one who is not afraid of the wrath of the authorities in the face of Khrushchev, he defended the Kazakh lands without giving them to Russia.

Students prepared reports on his life, work, and attitude to his family. Everyone should take an example as he said to his son it is not terrible to lay down his life for his native land it is terrible to lose his native land. Students watched a film about his biography and achievement. The film showed the moments in his life that led him to his path. After all, each of his actions was aimed at the benefit of Kazakhstan.

Not fearing the wrath of the authorities in the face of Khrushchev, he defended the Kazakh lands without giving them to Russia.
