1. Student scientific club "Lingua Discovery" works according to the schedule:

5 meetings of the student scientific club “Lingua Discovery” were held. Meetings are held in three languages. The club works within the framework of the development of multilingual education, linguistics and intercultural communication. Naturally, some students have difficulty in the process of discussing topics, debates and discussions sessions due to language barriers or low level of English proficiency. The format of the meetings is varied. The first meeting was held in the form of a discussion and quiz, the second as a defense of presentations, and the third as a festival of mini-performances. Also in the work of the club there were such forms of meetings as role-playing games, debates, essays, preparation and defense of reports.

The work of the student scientific club “Lingua discovery” took place in accordance with the plan approved at the beginning of the 2022-2023 academic year, except for changing the dates of meetings due to lack of time and heavy workload of students during periods of exams, midterm control or dates close to this period. Thus, the meeting of club No. 3 was postponed from the second half of 2022 to the first half of 2023. In the same way, for the convenience of the participants, other club meetings were postponed for a short period of time. Each meeting was attended by an average of 10-20 students of 1st and 3rd years of study.

The purpose of this club is to study language and current problems of linguistics, multilingual education, intercultural communication and methods of teaching foreign languages. However, from the 2022-2023 academic year, the “Lingua discovery” club expanded the scope of its activities and began to teach students of Abylkas Saginov Karaganda Technical University the basics of startup activities, introduce startup terms and their meanings, talk about the process of formation startups and discuss their importance under the leadership of the responsible teacher Abdykarimova G.M.

During the meetings, it was decided to create a Telegram channel to maintain communication with students interested in the activities of the scientific club, where the group leader makes announcements about the next meetings, shares news, useful links and materials with students, and also where club members can keep in touch.

To summarize, students who attended the Lingua Discovery sessions were able to discuss and learn about many topics in the field of startups, entrepreneurship, intercultural communication, globalization, and sustainable development.

To analyze the quality of the club's work, several criteria were defined.

The first criterion is the percentage of student engagement. Club members are a non-permanent contingent of 1st and 3rd year students. However, for more effective work, regular participants are needed who can take responsibility for improving the work of the club, as well as participate in long-term projects on their own. To do this, it is necessary to interest and involve students using social networks.

The second criterion is the level of students' training by teachers. The level of student preparation is good. Of the 49 students who took part in the meeting: 2 prepared presentations in English, 6 prepared a report in English and Russian, students of 2 groups staged 2 mini-performances, 3 prepared essays in English. Also, students actively participated in discussions, debates, role-playing games and quizzes.

The third criterion is the quality of club meetings. The level of the meeting is average. There are certain shortcomings in running the club, such as an unclear schedule due to the coincidence of other university events and busy academic periods with the club meeting schedule.
