

Educational programmes

6B07106 — "Transport, transport equipment and technologies»

The trajectory of "Automobiles and automobile economy»

In this specialty in the field of cars and automotive industry training is conducted in the following industries: technical operation of cars, service and corporate service of road transport, management and audit activities in road transport.

Path "Road construction and municipal machines»

Within the framework of the construction and road machinery industry, training is conducted on the operation of construction and road machinery, lifting and transporting machines.

Bachelors of transport of this specialty can work in motor transport enterprises, car repair plants, traffic police, engineering and commercial centers of public and departmental transport, car services, corporate centers of the automotive industry, in research and design organizations.

6B11301 — "Organization of transportation, traffic and operation of transport»

The specialty is divided into the following trajectories:

— "Organization of industrial transport»

Specialists in the field of "Industrial transport" can work at industrial enterprises and institutions that carry out transportation, ensuring the organization of safe movement in transport enterprises, heavy and light industry.

— "Organization of railway transport»

Specialists in the field of "Railway transport" can work at such large railway enterprises, industrial enterprises and institutions engaged in transportation, ensuring the organization of safe traffic on the railway main enterprises.

– "Organization of traffic»

In this specialty within the industry traffic organization prepares specialists in the following areas: traffic safety, certification, and licensing in transport, regulation of transport, management of transport systems.

Graduates of this industry can work in bodies of traffic police, transport inspection, organizations and institutions engaged in transportation, providing safe movement on the highways conducting autotechnical examination.

6B11302 — "Logistics (Transport)»

Trajectory "Transport logistics systems»

In this specialty within the industry of transport is preparing specialists in the following areas: logistics infrastructure in transport systems, business planning, transport organizations, security in transport, special freight transport, logistics, urban transport systems, organization of commercial activities, standardization and certification on transport