Conclusion: There is not a single person in Kazakhstan who would not know his name, would not be proud of him, his national hero. At least a hundred akyns, writers, journalists, scientists have dedicated and still dedicate poems, essays, articles, and research to him. And how many legends the Kazakh people made about him during his lifetime! Isn't his fate amazing? Yes, a batyr should be happy, whose name is glorified by the people, and life is glorified, turning it into a legend!
