2) 01.10.2022. scientists and teachers of the department headed by the head of the department of history of Kazakhstan, candidate of philosophical sciences, associate professor K.A. Temirgaliyev of the Karaganda Technical University named after Abylka Saginov visited the Taldinsky archaeological complex, located near the village of Taldy, Shetsky district. The historical and educational expedition was also attended by Professor of the E. Buketov KarU, Doctor of Historical Sciences Z.G. Saktaganova and guests. They visited the Saryarka pyramid, which is a pearl of Bronze Age history, found in the Karazhartas necropolis in 2016. The necropolis was built 3.5 thousand years ago. Archaeologists who have studied the burial site suggest that the pyramid construction technology could have migrated from the Kazakh steppes of Saryarka to Ancient Egypt. The four corners of the pyramid face the four sides of the world: south and north, to the east and west. This corresponds to the concept of the Kazakhs, dividing the world into four spheres of the phenomenon. As the mausoleum rises, the width of the stone slabs decreases, and the stairs become higher. The heavy slabs of the mausoleum were taken out and carved by ancient people from the rocks on the cliff of the river. The area of the mausoleum is 15/15, and the height is not less than 5 meters.

A resident of the village of Taldy, labor veteran Bakir Agai spoke about the history of burial mounds and burial grounds of the Taldy archaeological complex and plans for the development of tourism in the region, as well as the prospects for opening the Taldy archaeological park. The participants of the trip also visited the mausoleum of the Kazakh batyr and Bi Senkibay Orazgululy, who fought in the national liberation war against the Dzungars.

The Codes contained norms of administrative, criminal, civil law, and affected various aspects of the economic, cultural, and social life of society.
